FOREST FIRES RAVAGE NEARBY COUNTRY.

During the past week nearby sections of country have been devasted by forest fires, the extreme dryness adding to the rapidity with which the fires have spread.

Friday a fire started near the Wind gap school house, on the Clermont road presumably from a bon fire, and spread in one direction from Bloomster hollow over Bunker Hill farm. Also down to the Hamlin bridge. About forty men and boys were called out to fight this fire. All the local scout troop and many others were there.

Saturday and Sunday a fire was started by the Pennsylvania train near the tracks up Red Mill brook and raged for two days in the direction of Norwich.

Over 100 men and boys took part in fighting this fire. L. K. Hogarth had charge of the fire fighters.

Saturday evening the fire near Lafrhee was so close to the road that it was unsafe to drive over the road. Several Smethport people who had gone to Port Allegany the day previous, were unable to get through on the return trip, and stayed in Port Allegany over night.

Tuesday, April 24th a Pennsylvania train set fire to a field on the farm of Pete Olson and destroyed a barn filled with 60 tons of hay.

DEATH OF WILLIAM FULLER.

William Fuller famous base ball pitcher of twenty years ago died Sunday April 22, at six o'clock a. m. at his home after a lingering illness of two or more years.

His affliction was cancer of the throat, and from it he suffered intensely. He was treated by a famous Buffalo specialist, and also by radium treatment but neither method seemed to improve his condition.

In 1893 and 1894 as a youngster he started in with the "Oaks" the second base ball team in pitcher and 2nd baseman. He was gradually taken into the first team. He signed his first professional engagement with the Olean team of the Iron and Oil League, sometimes called Nippano league in 1896.

He played professionally for several years and was given an engagement in the Western Association at Columbus, Ohio.

He pitched for Smethport in the year 1904 in the McKean-Potter league, and won the pennant for the Smethport team. This league furnished many famous players for professional leagues.

By trade he was a painter. He was a genial, friendly man, who had many friends here and wherever he was known. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. A. M. Brickman of Buffalo, and sisters, Mrs. N. A. Baker also of that place.

WILL JOIN FORCES TO PROTECT PENNA OIL.

The organized oil refiners of Pennsylvania have decided to join forces with the organized oil producers of this state for the purpose of putting on a public campaign to protect the prestige of Pennsylvania petroleum.

Persistent efforts have been made in past years to persuade people that other crude oils produced in western fields were equal to the high grade crude which bears the name of "Pennsylvania Oil". By misrepresentation and by mixing with other oils the refiners and producers interests have been injured.

Hence the idea of joining forces in a newspaper campaign to educate the people as to the true value of Pennsylvania oil.

Will Your Paint Withstand
Next Summer's Sun and Heat?
It's time to start thinking about this year's coat of paint. The sun will soon be getting in its work. Is your property protected against those blistering, burning rays? Or will rot and decay be able to creep through the blisters, cracks and holes?
Come to us for Patton's Sun-Proof Paint. It seals the surface with a hardy, long-wearing film that resists the most vicious attacks of the elements. It is exceedingly elastic—expands and contracts as the weather dictates. No cracking, blistering, peeling or flaking off. Wears wonderfully well and covers an unusually large surface per gallon.
We have it in all sizes of cans for your use. Also, paints, varnishes and enamels for any work you want to do. Tell us about your job and we'll supply the proper paint.

MAYOR FOLEY SPEAKS OUT ON ENDURANCE DANCING IN STAID CITY OF OLEAN.

Olean, April 21.—The dance of endurance will be in a class with the dance of the few veils in this city according to mayor Peter C. Foley.

"The dance is an outrage, and if any girl starts out to dance a number of hours here, she will be stopped, as she should be stopped throughout the United States," declared his honor.

Dancing is a fine exercise if done properly, but it is harmful if carried to extreme, according to the mayor. There are no benefits to be gained from trying to kick off the hours and the days, and health will be injured as the only result, said Mr. Foley.

BIG STILL AND MUCH MOONSHINE BROUGHT TO LIGHT IN A RAID.

A raid was staged yesterday on the premises occupied by Chas. Gerage and family at 126½ Bayard Street in which County Detective J. J. Allison, Chief of Police R. T. Fowler, Policeman Carl Swanson and William Novic participated. The officers acting upon information received visited the premises armed with search warrant under the new enforcement act and found plenty of evidence and sale of moon shine wiskey.

A serviceable still of large capacity was found in active operation as well as four 48-gallon barrels of mash in process of fermentation. The finished product was also found in the following containers: One keg containing two gallons of moonshine, two one-gallon jugs containing the same and several jars of various sizes some full and some partly filled with the "liquid lightning."

Chas. Gerage and his wife Rosie were arrested charged with making and selling intoxicating liquor and were given hearings last night before Justice Emile Stenger and each was held in the sum of $2,500 bail for their appearance at the next term of quarter sessions court at Smethport. Bail was furnished for Mrs. Gerage by her son, but Chas. Gerage was unable to furnish a bondsman last night and was locked up. It is understood that he will produce bail today.

These premises have been under surveillance for a number of weeks. It is understood, but the officers were foiled in previous attempts to procure evidence upon which to act However a combination of circumstances happened in a few minutes yesterday that brought forth the the new enforcement act and found necessary information and the raid s pulled at about five o'clock in the afternoon.

It is understood that the Gerage couple came to Kane from Mt Jewett, where about 18 months ago, they occupied a building there which was destroyed by fire, the origin of which caused an investigation to be made by insurance companies.—Kane Republican, April 21

VALLEY GRANGE NEWS

A very good attendance at Grange last Saturday night, the First and Second degrees were conferred on nine candidatees.

We hope our secretary will be on the job next Saturday night, also missed our Pomona, this is not the right time to go away on a visit. H. J. Rice was present and made a good talk on conservation, glad to see our pianist able to be with us again, but it seemed to make a certain party so nervous that they had hard work to keep their music from falling over. Never mind, no harm done.

Our Chaplain was present after an illness of several weeks, for which we are all well pleased, and hope she will continue to be able to be present at the meetings.

Every one try and come early next Saturday night, as there will be quite a long session, and something to eat, that's where we put in the most of our time and attention. At the table. Sure Mike.

A. R. ANDERSON,
April 16, 1923. Clermont, Pa.

A. R. Anderson of Clermont has announced his cadidacy for re-election to the office of Recorder of Deeds of McKean County, subject to the Republican primaries next September. He was elected to this office in 1919 by acclaim, having no opposition, and has filled it in the most satisfactory manner. His courteous treatment to all who have had business in his office, will certainly give him votes

In our announcement column this week appears the name of John B. Eastman, candidate for the Republican nomination for Register of Wills of the orphans Court of McKean County. Mr Eastman has filled his office with credit for a number of years, and is thoroughly familiar with all its details. He is a careful, painstaking and accurate offical. He has many friends who will aid him in reaching his goal.

MR. HOWE A CANDIDATE.

John H. Howe of Bradford, has announced his candidacy for the office of sheriff of McKean county, subject to the decision of the Republica voters at the primaries to be held next September. He enters the contest for the nomination at the solicitation of numerous friends in this city and throughout the county, and he feels much encouraged over the offers of support he has received.

Mr. Howe is so well known to the people of the community that he needs no introduction. In Bradford he has served in various important offices, including that of chief of police and other positions in the local police department. He has been a constable in the first ward and has served as deputy sheriff. In the fulfillment of duties connected with these positions, Mr. Howe has a most praiseworthy record for efficiency and integrity. His conscientious work is well known to the public. As a private citizen and business man he has at all times shown sincere interest in the public welfare. If chosen for the office of sheriff, John H. Howe would ably meet all its requirements, and there are reasons to believe that in the coming contest he will receive large support from the voters.

He is a stalwart Republican and is always devoted to the interests of the party. However, he also has many friends in other political organizations.

"AMERICA"—THE MOST JUST NATION" BOOST IT!

What's the matter with the United States of America? Isn't there anything worth while in our institutions, our principles, our traditions, and ideals our national policies and accomplishments? Has the spirit of patriotism and nationalism been wholly smothered by the stifling effluvium of internationalism which has been constantly poured over this country ever since the former administration attempted to make Uncle Sam the chore boy of Europe?

Pick up the program of a state or national convention or conference of almost any organization or association and most likely the headliner is some foreiger who is over here to tell us what a sordid, clay-footed selfish people we are, simply because we refuse to become an active partner in Europe's bankruptcy and intrigue.

We are lectured upon our duty to the world.

We are commiserated upon having lost our soul.

We are informed that our traditions and ideals are old fogey, that the policy of minding our own business is a sign of narrow mindness; that while cleaning our own house and putting it in order may have brought prosperity to us, it is a supremely selfish policy.

We are described as hard-boiled and cold-blooded and Shylocks, lacking in all the finer attributes just because we refuse to join a regular international Saturday night debauch and get into a roughhouse at the cost of our self-respect and our physical and financial standing.

Those attending the convention have listened to some imported lecturer sneer at our government, deplore our provincialism and characterize us as a nation wholly lost to higher and better things.

This sort of thing is breeding a spirit of discontent and spreading the gospel of hatred of American institutions quite as truly as the soap-box evangelist who "cusses out" the government in language less polished and phrases less rounded than the distinguished foreign gentry who speak at more exclusive gatherings. But there is no essential difference between the two, however except in outward appearance. One is Morocco binding and the other is a paper cover. The contents are the same.

In a talk given by President Hard- Harding to the citizens of Augusta on the last day of his recent vacation, he said 'it will be the verdict of Europe when she has righted herself, as she surely will, that the republic of the United States is the most just nation of the world." Isn't it about time this truth were being emphasized upon every occasion at every opportunity throughout the United States?

Why doesn't some convention or conference try something new by featuring an American citizen who believes 100 per cent in our institutions and government and who is not afraid to stand on his feet and preach the good old gospel of Americanism and minding our own business, by the practice of which this country became great and respected? Is it not time for various merchant associations, chambers of commerce, industrial conferences and those club organizations national in their scope, as well as purely local clubs, to stop featuring the foreign propagandist who comes to our country only to find fault with and belittle it.

We do not need these propagandists in order to inform us regarding Europe. The Americans have vastly better and truer knowledge of Europe than European people have of America. Let those foreign scholars and leaders who would bring about a better understanding between this country and Europe remain at home and endeavor to enlighten their own countrymen regarding the viewpoint of America and what it has accomplished. Let them stop the spreading of official lies in their own countries regarding this nation, its purposes and its motives. Let them do as much within their own borders to bring about restoration of normal conditions as America has within its boundaries and all will be well with the world.

Instead of bringing about a better understanding they are spreading the gospel of class and racial hatred in this country. They are getting a large class of people otherwise intelligent in the belief that something, after all is wrong with American institutions and American ideals. They are keeping alive in all European countries the false and vicious idea that we have not done our duty to European countries.

It is high time to stop this sort of propaganda. America today is playing by far the best, the highest and the most constructive part in the community of nations in the work of bringing the world back to a sane viewpoint and normal prosperity.

RUSSIAN MONSTER WHICH SOME WOULD HAVE U. S. EMBRACE

The State Department presented through the American embassy in Berlin, a remonstrance against the execution of Roman Catholic dignitaries under death sentence in Russia. In so doing it voiced the feeling of all Americans and reinforces similar protests coming from most of the other civilized nations."

The Soviet terrorism knows no distinction of persons or factions. It can be kept alive only by ruthlessness—by striking at the leaders in any group or organization inside Russia which has not yet been brought completely under communist control. Thus Lenine has imprisoned or executed revolutionary socialists and others with whom he made common cause against czarism and the Duma Kerensky governments. He has persecuted the Russian Orthodox clergy, of whom spiritual power he is envious. He now has turned his bloody hand against the Roman Catholic prelates. They, too, exercise an authority which he fears because it conflicts with his.

The Soviet government recently abolished Christians. It wars against religion, as it wars against any other established tradition or belief. It is a jealous monster, seeking to devour all that offends its sense of absolute possession. It has no respect whatever for freedom of opinion, of utterance or of faith. It would destroy the last vestiges of liberty of action and of thought. It denies to all outside the narrow circle of communism the simplest human rights.

Nobody ever has drawn a blacker picture of what communism is than the communist leaders themselves. Other tyrranies have been brutal insensate and murderous, but none has striven so desperately as it has to enslave the souls and minds of men. The civilized world stands aghast at the material ruin which communism has wrought in Russia. But it has wrought equal spiritual ruin. Words of protest from other powers may move Lenine because he craves recognition from abroad whatever its nature, but what country could be encouraged by the circumstances which makes this protest necessary to dream of extending intercourse with him into the sphere of political or commercial friendship?—New York Tribune.

HALF A MILLION MILES OF NEW WIRE WILL BE ADDED TO THE BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM IN PENNSYLVANIA THIS YEAR

THAT'S an increase of twenty per cent. in the total Bell wire mileage in the state.

This new wire alone would encircle the earth at the equator twenty times. It would reach the length of the state of Pennsylvania more than 1600 times.

More wire was placed in 1922 than in any previous year. We will place nearly twice as much in 1923.

This is one phase of our effort to meet the demand for telephone service in Pennsylvania.

The Doctor Was Right

When the good old family doctor was asked about baking powders, he said:

"Use Royal. It is made from Cream of Tartar and is absolutely pure. You could dissolve a couple of teaspoons of Royal in water and drink it with benefit. That's a health test mighty few baking powders can meet."

The doctor was right.

DAIRY FACTS

TANK HEATERS ARE FAVORED

When Milk Cows Are Watered Infrequently It Is Poor Policy to Supply Ice Water.

When a cow drinks water her body at once sets to work raising it, if necessary, to the same temperature as exists normally in the body. In order to warm the water taken in, heat is just as necessary as it is to warm a kettle of water on the stove.

To provide the heat necessary, the blood and internal organs give up a portion of their supply until more is supplied from food previously consumed. As the milk cow is a heavy consumer of water, much heat is required to warm it. Consequently when cows are allowed to drink water that is very cold, a high percentage of the feed eaten is required to heat it. If it is true that some heat is being given off from the body all the time and when the amount of water taken in at one time is small the loss is unimportant. But when the cows are watered only once or twice daily, and then get near ice water, they are likely to suffer injury and more feed is necessary. Stated briefly, it is a question of balancing good feed and the cow's time digesting it, against the cost of a good tank heater and a few pails of gas or coal. The man interested in getting the most out of his cows and in their comfort will not expect them to be their own tank heaters.

SILAGE READY WHEN NEEDED

Mistaken Idea to Think That Certain Time Must Elapse Before Feeding to Stock.

What is the best time to begin feeding silage, is a question which is interesting many dairy farmers.

The specialists on live stock feeding say that the time to begin using silage is when the dairyman feels it; they feel there is no justification for the idea that a certain time must elapse between the filling of the silo and opening it for use.

Experiments made at the state colleges of the country indicate that fermentation starts almost as soon as the corn is placed in the silo, and that the greatest change takes place during the first five days after filling. After 12 days, fermentation is practically complete, and the silage undergoes very little modification after two weeks.

Some farmers do not know that silage will keep for a long time. Experiments indicate that silage is as palatable after several years as that which has been kept only a few months.

Although moldy silage apparently does not injure mature cows, it has been found to affect the health of calves and horses. To be on the safe side, careful farmers discard the moldy silage from the top of the silo.

REAL VALUE OF DAIRY COW

Most Reliable Method Is to Figure Her Actual Butterfat Production by Weight.

The most reliable way of getting at the real value of a dairy cow is to figure her actual butterfat production. This can be done by weighing the milk produced by each cow and by determining the per cent of butterfat through occasional tests of the milk with a Babcock tester.

COMPARATIVE COST OF COWS

Cheaper to Milk and Feed One Animal Giving Large Yield Than It Is for Three Scrubs.

It is much cheaper to milk and care for one cow giving 300 pounds of butterfat in a year than it is to milk and care for three cows giving 100 pounds of butterfat each, and if the 300-pound cow is heavily fed she will not eat as much as the three 100-pound cows.

Drawback to Dairying.

Perhaps the greatest drawback to the dairy business is that a cow will produce a little milk, no matter what she is fed. Too many dairymen are satisfied with that little bit.

Beware of Lazy Bull.

Beware of the undersized, lazy, dull-eyed bull; he is never a money maker for his owner.

GOOD SIRE MUST ESSENTIAL

Dairy Farmer Urged to Stop Working for Scrub Bull and His Unprofitable Progeny.

Look to the future of your herd—the herd of tomorrow, and cease working for the scrub bull and his scrub progeny, and get a good purebred bull that will work for you and build up a high economical producing herd.

Study of the yearly production records and feed costs of 8,004 cows in a report of the United States Dairy division shows the following results:

Cows that produce 100 pounds of butterfat in a year, with an average feed cost of $34, gave a return of $10 over cost of feed; cows that produced 200 pounds of butterfat per year, with an average feed cost of $40, gave a return of $42 over cost of feed; cows that produced 300 pounds of butterfat per year, with an average cost of $58 for feed, gave a return of $74 over cost of feed; cows that produced 400 pounds of butterfat in a year with an average feed cost of $70 gave a return of $106 over cost of feed.

Thus it is shown that as production of fat increases, feed cost also increases, but not in proportion, and the income over the feed cost also increases. It costs twice as much to feed the 400-pound fat-producing cow, but she makes ten times as great a return over feed cost, and "what is left after the bills are paid" is what interests all of us.

A Good Purebred Bull Will Aid Materially in Increasing Dairy Profits.

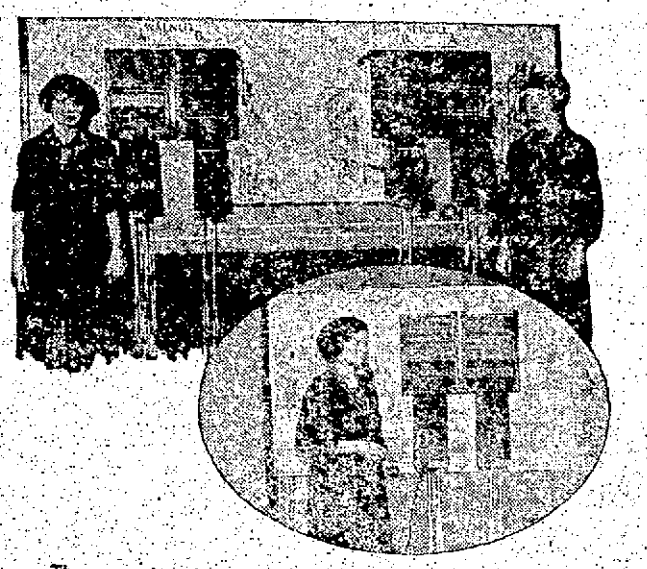
A good purebred bull, plus good feed and care will help you to produce the above results.—F. E. Bell, Deputy Colorado State Dairy Commissioner.

MANY PEOPLE SEE INTERESTING TELEPHONE DEMONSTRATION



The upper view shows the type of demonstration board used in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, while the lower view is of the type used in smaller cities.

So far during the present season, over 107,000 people have seen the interesting demonstrations given by the Bell Telephone Company before various Business Men's Clubs, Bible Classes, Schools, etc. The demonstration is familiarly known as "60 Minutes in a Central Office."

Judging by the many requests that are coming in for dates, the attendance figures will be doubled before the close of the season, which will probably be sometime in June.

The demonstration is unique in that part of a standard telephone switchboard has been mounted on a board and made to operate just as the standard switchboard operates.

The relays, repeating coils, plugs, jacks and a hundred and one other bits of equipment familiar to the telephone man are the same as those used in a modern central office.

These parts are all affixed to the reverse side of the board and are so connected that an actual working connection can be set up from one side of the board to the other. In fact, calls are actually handled during each demonstration. Several telephones are placed on each side of the demonstration board and are used to illustrate just what happens when telephone calls are made.

The demonstrator (in each case a telephone operator) not only tells but actually shows just what happens when the receiver is taken from the hook; how the little light appears and then vanishes as she inserts the plug and says, "Number, please?" She smiles as she shows impatient "jiggling" of the hook will prevent this light from appearing and consequently there will be no signal to beckon to her.

In large cities such as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh positions of two central offices are used on the demonstration board while in the smaller cities of the territory the single office type of board is used.

The sole idea of these demonstrations is to show and tell the public something about the unseen working of this great industry.

The demonstrations are always given free of charge.

NEW STATE ADDED TO UNION

Interesting Fact, Unknown to Many, Was Brought Out by Recent Reclamation Report.

It has been possible to add a state to the Union without increasing the number of commonwealths. The answer to this enigmatical statement is found in the annual report of the reclamation service, declares the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times. In the twenty years of its existence it has made 1,675,000 acres to blossom and produce, where up to the time the service was inaugurated the land grew only sage brush and was inhabited only by the jack rabbits, the coyote, the prairie dog and the rattlesnake. Where there was desert now there are nearly 32,000 farms. The crops produced last year on reclaimed areas were of value of nearly $100,000,000. From an agricultural standpoint a state, measured by productiveness, has been added equal to that of West Virginia or the combined values of the crops of Vermont and Connecticut. It is significant, too, that the value of the crops grown on irrigated land averaged $48.25 an acre, against $14.52 an acre for the ten leading crops on non-irrigated land in the United States. This but recounts the achievements of the reclamation service and does not include projects under private enterprise.

While it is true that the enterprises which have been carried out were the most feasible, probably, by no means have the possible projects for reclamation through irrigation been exhausted.

RAPID IMPROVEMENT IN TELEPHONE SWITCHBOARDS

When the telephone was first invented and had arrived at the stage where ordinary conversation was possible, there were only two telephones, one at each end of a wire.

The first telephones used commercially were leased in pairs and many times the person to whom they were leased had to string his own wires from one telephone to the other, usually from his house to his office or factory.

At that time it was not thought possible to have an inter-communicating system until the advent of the switchboard.

In May, 1877, the first switchboard to connect telephone circuits was installed, connecting five Boston banks.

This was followed up by the first commercial telephone exchange, which was installed in New Haven, Connecticut, in 1878, with the eight connecting telephones and soon after exchanges grew in New York, Bridgeport and Philadelphia.

This first commercial switchboard was succeeded by various other boards up until 1879, when the first "Multiple" board was installed.

The largest type multiple boards have more than 2,000,000 tiny soldered parts, 15,000 electric signal lights and over 4000 miles of wire, more than enough to span the continent.

These who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.

NOTES FROM McKEAN COUNTY FARM BUREAU REPORT.

Spraying.

Up until this year but fifteen farmers in the county were spraying potatoes in the proper way and these were induced to do so through the perilous efforts of the Farm Bureau. This year a great deal of interest was aroused and the men of six communities cooperated in purchasing their sprayers and operating the same. Fifty-eight farmers were served by fifteen machines, seven of which were owned in this year through the Farm Bureau. Farmers were asked in certain communities to allow a part of their field to go unsprayed but they were so thoroughly convinced that spraying paid that they disliked to have any part of their field escape the spraying. One man was induced to do so with the following results.

W. E. Sawyer, Wrights, Pa.

Increase due to spraying ..... 51 1-3 bushels

Total Cost of Spraying per Acre $10.33

Value of Increase per Acre $30.59

The value of the increase on the 201 acres which were sprayed in the county would be $6,150.80, providing they all had but 51 1-3 bushels increase, which is much lower than the increase on some of these farms. The estimated increase on some of these farms was as high as 75 bushels per acre.
